

Schizophrenia

Across

- 4. A psychotic disorder marked by severely impaired thinking, emotions, and behavior.
- 6. According to this type of psychological perspective, schizophrenia is caused by excessive levels of dopamine.
- 7. According to the social cultural perspective, this would be beneficial in improving the home life of people with schizophrenia. (Two words)
- 8. Type of symptoms that are categorized by an excessive or distorted version of normal functions.
- 9. Type of schizophrenia that is characterized by auditory hallucinations (hearing voices) and paranoid delusions (false beliefs).

- 10. Type of schizophrenia that is characterized by disorganized behavior, speech and thinking; it includes a disturbance in emotional expression.

Down

- 1. Type of schizophrenia that is characterized by disruptions in a person's movements.
- 2. Type of schizophrenia that has characteristics of positive and negative symptoms but can't be classified into a specific type.
- 3. Newly discovered immune cell that could be contributing to the symptoms of schizophrenia.
- 5. Type of symptoms that are categorized by the lack or absence of behaviors.