

Selecting Target Behaviors

Across

3. Refers to the pragmatic aspects of language
8. Phonological process that entails changes in the structure of syllables. Includes 5 processes.
9. Analysis of targets based on patterns on how sounds are normally produced.
10. Begin this level of language targets when client can produce phrases

Down

1. Disorders related to vocal quality, resonance, pitch, and loudness.
2. Interruptions in the continuous flow of speech.
4. Phonological process that entails targets replaced by other sounds. Includes 9 processes
5. Analysis of unique characteristics that distinguish one speech sound from another
6. Analysis of treatment targets for individual sounds
7. Communication strategies used for individuals with limited to no speaking skills.