

TYPES OF EVIDENCE

Across

2. blood, semen, saliva, sweat, tears, hair, bone, tissues ETC

8. is a statement made under oath; also known as direct evidence or prima facie evidence.

11. Evidence providing only a basis for inference about the disputed fact

12. fingerprints, footprints, shoeprints, handwriting, firearms

15. footprints, teeth marks in perishable foods, tire marks on certain surfaces

16. evidence based on suggestion rather than personal knowledge or observation

18. is produced by a specific event or action; important in crime scene reconstruction and in determining the set of circumstances or sequence within a particular event.

Down

1. is something that may associate a victim or suspect with a scene or with each other; e.g., personal belongings

3. Transfer evidence is produced by contact between person(s) and object(s), or between person(s) and person(s).

4. is produced by direct contact between a person and an object or between two objects.

5. mostly in the form of imprints, indentations, striations, markings, fractures, or deposits

6. can be identified with a particular person or a single source

7. is temporary; easily changed or lost; usually observed by the first officer at the scene.

9. is any object or material that is relevant in a crime; also known as indirect evidence

10. surroundings, car hood, coffee, water in a bathtub, cadaver

13. common to a group of objects or persons

14. putrefaction, perfume ETC...

17. fibers, glass, soil, gunpowder, metals, minerals, narcotics