

Name: _____ Date: _____

Technology and Written Communication

- | | |
|--|---------------------------------|
| 1. A record of computer activity | A. modem |
| 2. the process of copying and archiving computer data | B. privacy filters |
| 3. a system that links personal computers and peripheral devices | C. magnetism |
| 4. wireless mobile workstation | D. operating system |
| 5. computer hardware and software that perform data analysis | E. firewall |
| 6. the computer process of changing encrypted text to readable or plain text after user enters a password | F. COW |
| 7. a personal computer that doesn't contain a hard drive and allows the user only limited functions | G. EMR |
| 8. an electronic record of health related information about a patient | H. Back up |
| 9. an electronic record of health related information about an individual that can be created, gathered, managed, and consulted. | I. dumb terminal |
| 10. the use of electronic software to communicate with pharmacies and send prescribing information. | J. point of care |
| 11. a communication system for connecting several computers so information can be shared. | K. data server |
| 12. a program or hardware that acts as a filter between the network and the internet. | L. computer network |
| 13. the attraction of materials to magnets | M. practice management software |
| 14. a type of communication; with computers | N. media |
| 15. peripheral computer hardware that connects to the router to provide internet access to the network or computer | O. decryption |
| 16. software that acts as the computer's administrator by managing, integrating, and controlling application software and hardware | P. USB port |

- | | |
|--|------------------------------|
| 17. computer hardware that displays the processed data from the computer | Q. stylus |
| 18. something designed to be used at or near where the patient is seen | R. output device |
| 19. the most common layout for a printed page | S. Ethernet |
| 20. computer programs used to run business operations | T. eprescribing |
| 21. also called monitor filters or privacy screens | U. security risk analysis |
| 22. media capable of permanently storing data | V. secondary storage devices |
| 23. identification of potential threats of computer network breaches | W. software |
| 24. a set of electronic instructions to operate and perform different tasks | X. Audit trail |
| 25. a pen-shaped device | Y. portrait orientation |
| 26. the most common type of connector device that allow hardware to be connected into the computer | Z. EHR |