

Name: _____

Date: _____

The Early Republic 1789-1829

Across

1. The beginning of the years was called _____ because many important men argued for a strong federal government.

4. _____ invented mass production and interchangeable parts and became the worlds leading producer of cotton.

5. _____ published his first American Dictionary of the English Language.

6. The _____ believed in concentration of power and authority in federal government, rather than states rights.

8. The longest canal in America was built which made transportation possible from the Atlantic Ocean to the Great Lakes.

9. A government in which supreme power in a body of citizens entitled to vote and is exercised by elected officers and representatives governing according to the law.

10. _____ built the first successful steamboat, which improved transportation time and cut the cost of transportation.

11. Nations first president and enacted the American Constitution.

Down

2. _____ was the first U.S. writer to make a living from writng.

3. Supported a balanced distribution of power between the federalist government and states.

7. The Democratic-Republicans formed in 1818 and was in favor of strict interpretation of the original _____.