

Name: _____

Date: _____

The Human Geography of the United States

Across

8. a concentrated region of manufacturing industries in the northeastern and mid western United States.

9. to change residence from a country to begin living permanently in another country

10. a large population concentration made up of several large and many smaller cities, such as the area between Boston and Washington, D.C.

Down

1. legal proceeding in which a borrower's rights to a property are relinquished due to his or her inability to make payments on the loan

2. a network of safe houses in the United States that helped thousands of enslaved people escape to freedom

3. economy that emphasizes services and technology rather than industry and manufacturing

4. a competition or struggle

5. a mild climate region in the southern and southwestern portions of the United States

6. a farming method used in dry regions in which crops are grown that rely only on the natural precipitation

7. musical form that developed in the United States in the early 1900's blending African rhythms and European harmonies

Word Bank

manufacturing belt

dry farming

jazz

sunbelt

postindustrial

immigrate

underground railroad

conflict

megalopolis

foreclosure