

The Sound of Thunder and Grammar

Across

- 2. General Zaroff hunts the most dangerous game and insists he treats his human prey _____.
- 6. Rainsford ironically became the prey, and he soon became leg weary and exhausted. It was _____ that he rest.
- 9. In hunting, the hunter seeks to shoot his _____.
- 10. A _____ is not a complete thought, as it may be missing a subject or a predicate.

12. In the story, Whitney implies that sailors possess an extra sense that tells them of danger. This evil is _____.

Down

- 1. A _____ is a complete thought, and it contains a subject and predicate.
- 3. General Zaroff was a very _____ hunter and found the experience of hunting Rainsford exhilarating.
- 4. General Zaroff's home still has the finest _____ to make his life and unexpected guests comfortable and feel like they are in civilization.

- 5. Rainsford forged through the night to seek assistance after falling overboard. He arrives at a palatial chateau and gives Ivan a _____ smile to show he was harmless.
- 7. General Zaroff speaks with a _____ voice, signifying he is sophisticated/worldly.
- 8. General Zaroff had phenomenal skill in tracking prey and _____ powers to be able to follow difficult trails.
- 11. A _____ is when two or more sentences are written as though they were one sentence, usually without proper punctuation.