

The Unique Lunacy of a Language Crossword Puzzle

Across

- 5. A _____ is the only type of dog that can burn.
- 6. You park on a driveway but you drive on a _____.
- 7. You can play a bass drum, but you can also catch a bass _____.
- 8. This word sounds like the offspring of a rat and raccoon. (Hint: small sprout growing from a plant.)
- 11. This is a type of ice cream that has the same name as a day in the week.
- 13. Mice is the plural form of _____, but hicc would not be the plural form of house.
- 14. Tear and tear are pronounced differently, but tear and _____ are pronounced the same. (Hint: a level or row)

- 15. Laid is pronounced like paid, but said is pronounced like _____. (Hint: a type of grain product.)
- 17. Why is this insect called a _____ if it does not have butter when it flies .
- 18. Majority of languages refer to _____ as foot fingers.
- 19. A _____ is an object that has hands but cannot talk.
- 20. Which man cannot live inside of a house?

Down

- 1. The plural for tooth is teeth, but we use a _____ to brush our teeth.
- 2. Although these words look like opposites, flammable means the same as _____, but both mean the same thing.

- 3. This word rhymes with sabotage, but it means the complete opposite. It is a countries right to operate transportation in their border.
- 4. There is no straw in strawberries and no _____ in pancakes.
- 9. We use feet to play football, not socks to play _____.
- 10. If there's no pony and no tail why is it called a _____?
- 12. If there is no honey and no moon incorporated with this event, why is it called a _____?
- 16. Subject to it's name, blueberries aren't _____ .