

Tuck Everlasting

Across

- 1. It was sucked in immediately, and the wet brown stain it left behind paled and _____ almost as quickly. page 113
- 4. Her body felt _____, and she seemed to float down the path to the gate page 121
- 6. For the only thing she could think was the clear and terrible _____: Mae could never go the gallows. page 105
- 7. In the hall, outside her room, the grandfather's clock ticked deliberately, unimpresses with anyone's _____ and Winnie found herself rocking to its rhythm-forward, back, forward, back page 117

- 11. Winnie saw again the wide world spread before her, _____ with light and possibility. page 105
 - 13. That's right said Winnie _____ . page 102
 - 14. It looks like if he were _____ and - yes, envious-like a starving man looking through a window at a banquet. page 103
 - 15. "Well, anyway," said the constable at last, turning _____, "I got to take charge here. page 103
- Down
- 2. She closed her eyes against the glaring light, and watched, a little drizzily as _____ patterns of red and orange danced in her eyes. page 113
 - 3. Mae and Tuck sat on the seat of the _____ wooden wagon page 134

- 5. And then _____, Jesse was there crouching just on the other side of the fence. page 113
- 8. They received the news with _____ hope and horror, her father said. page 107
- 9. In the midst of the noise, Miles gave a _____ heave. page 124
- 10. And then, the sun sank _____ behind the treetops, the haze hardened to a brilliant, brownish yellow. page 117
- 12. Then he shrugged and looked down at the man in the yellow suit, who lay _____ on the grass. page 102