

Types of Interviews

Across

6. What type of data is in numerical form?
7. What type of interview has set questions?
8. What methodological perspective prefers structured interviews?
9. What is the sociological term when the interviewer asks 'leading' questions?
10. What is the term when the participant doesn't know they're being observed?

Down

1. What is a sociological term that makes the experiment replicable?
2. What type of interview doesn't have set questions?
3. What sociological method provides a true, authentic picture of the topic being researched?
4. What methodological function prefers unstructured interviews?
5. What type of data is expressed in words?

Word Bank

Qualitative

Quantitative

Validity

Covert

Unstructured

Interpretivists

Interviewer bias

Structured

Positivists

Reliability