

Understanding Plans for a House

Across

4. A simplified drawing that shows the size and arrangement of rooms, hallways, doors, windows, and storage areas on one floor of a house is called a ____.
5. ____ lines show the outline of the building and walls.
8. ____ lines show that an object continues on, but the complete view is not shown.
11. All areas of a house that are needed to maintain and service the other areas are called the ____ area.
12. ____ lines show the center of an arc or circle.
13. The ____ area in most houses consists of bedrooms and bathrooms.
14. A view taken from an imaginary cut through part of a house, such as the walls, is called a ____ view.

16. ____ lines are often called called crosshatch lines.

17. ____ lines show the outline of the building and walls.

18. ____ lines show the edges of surfaces that are not seen in a specific view of a house.

19. ____ lines show the termination points of a dimension.

20. Plumbing and electrical fixtures, doors, windows, and other common objects in a house are represented by ____.

Down

1. Types and quality of materials to be used and directions for their use are stated in ____.
2. Views of a house taken from the top of an imaginary glass box are called ____ views.

3. Architectural drawings that show the outside view of a house are called ____.

6. The line connecting the three activity centers in the kitchen is called a ____.

7. Bedrooms that provide space for activities such as reading, studying, watching TV, listening to music, and working on hobbies are called ____ rooms.

9. Seven different types of lines commonly used on architectural drawings are called the ____ of lines.

10. An enlargement of a construction feature is often shown in a ____ view.

15. A copy of an architectural drawing is called a ____.