

Vocab for Writing

Across

8. A very long speech that is used to stop any form of government or legislative law from passing.

9. To get into someone else's business without an invitation or the right

10. Having an ability to assess a situation or people correctly and turn the situation into one's advantage

11. Having an ability to assess a situation or people correctly and turn the situation into one's advantage

12. Having an ability to assess a situation or people correctly and turn the situation into one's advantage

Down

1. A very thin, skinny person usually due to hunger, age or suffering

2. A possessor of a property or business

3. To be struck in love.

4. A large or sticking out abdomen or stomach

5. To be filled with major or intense anger that is unexpressed.

6. Changing frequently, usually with one's interests and loyalties.

7. Someone with a mental disorder, kleptomania, which is the urge to steal.