

Women's Health Crossword

Across

3. Used to test for chromosomal abnormalities and fetal defects early in second trimester

9. Help cause the cervix to dilate and contractions to occur when pregnant women go into labor

11. Fetal movements

15. Part of the fallopian tube where fertilization takes place

17. Occur at least every 5 minutes and last 30-60 seconds

20. Initiates milk production when levels of estrogen and progesterone fall (not made during pregnancy)

21. Temporary increase in fetal heart rate that peaks above the baseline of 15 bpm and last 15 bpm

22. Delayed onset of 1st menstrual period

23. A thick, green tar-like substance that lines intestine in baby and released with baby's first bowel movement

24. Presentation when the fetal buttocks or feet enter the pelvis first

25. Characterized by dilation of the collecting ducts, which becomes distended and filled with cellular debris. This usually occurs as a woman approaches menopause.

Down

1. An infection that can occur by eating undercooked meats and by exposure from infected cat feces.

2. Adverse effect of epidural block

4. The hormone that stimulates milk ejection after birth, stimulations contractions, and keeps the uterus contracted after birth.

5. At 20 weeks, the fundus is located at the _____.

6. Absence of menses for at least 3 cycles (3 months) after an established 6 months of regular cycles

7. Sign of true labor

8. Without this hormone, pregnancy would not be maintained

10. Induction of labor by artificial means

12. Hormone that causes the LH surge leading to the ovulatory phase of the ovarian cycle

13. Thinning of the cervix

14. Top of the uterus, used a point of reference for measuring fetal growth

16. Vaginal discharge during the postpartum period

18. False contractions, tighten the uterus, do not cause pain, indicates dehydration

19. An incision made down the perineum to allow for more room