

Yearbook Review

Across

4. a font that has "feet" at the ends of letters
 5. a page by page listing of the yearbook's contents. yearbook staffs use this to stay organized and plan for deadlines
 6. the fold between two pages where the pages are bound together
 10. when an image has a static look to it from being low quality
 15. the main story on a yearbook spread
 16. the colors used digitally (on screens)
 17. a list of the technical printing information about the yearbook, including the price, number of copies, colors, fonts, photography company, and awards won by previous year's book. typically appears in the index
 18. a few sentences that identify the who, what, where, when, why, and how of a picture; might also tell the reader what happened before or after the picture was taken

20. Cut out background, meaning you use photoshop to remove the background from an image
 21. this is how fast the camera lens opens and closed to take a photo
 22. a font that lacks "feet" at the end of letters

Down

1. the optimal color used for metering in photography
 2. empty area of a spread that is not covered by type or pictures. also called negative space
 3. a spread used to separate each of the sections of the yearbook. usually theme-related in design and the copy links the main theme to the ensuing section
 7. the depth of color or how intense the colors appear
 8. a line of large type used to tell the reader what is to follow. it introduces the topic and serves as a main visual point of interest on the spread.

9. Adjusting the camera settings to ensure a photo will turn out correct in a given setting
 11. a photo that is not posed
 12. the colors used in printing
 13. a smaller headline which accompanies the main headline and provides specific, detailed information
 14. the page number and spread identification, usually positioned in the bottom corner of each page
 19. a verbal statement and a visual look which tie all parts of the yearbook together
