

milkweed

Across

- 2. A handful, usually a large amount
- 3. extraordinarily great in size, extent, or degree; gigantic; huge.
- 8. an alley or lane or a narrow passageway.
- 10. to scratch or scrape, as with the claws or hands
- 12. to utter or emit a squeal or squealing sound
- 13. desperate or wild with excitement, passion, fear, pain, etc.; frenzied

- 15. to strike repeatedly with great force, as with an instrument, the fist, heavy missiles

Down

- 1. not visible; not perceptible by the eye
- 4. to walk without lifting the feet or with clumsy steps and a shambling gait.
- 5. to utter a similar cry in distress, pain, rage
- 6. a member of a nomadic, Caucasoid people of generally swarthy complexion

- 7. Fortification. a long, narrow excavation in the ground
- 9. a blow with something thick and heavy, producing a dull sound; a heavy knock.
- 11. an area set apart for or containing graves, tombs, or funeral urns
- 14. the smallest or weakest of a litter, especially of pigs or puppies.