

socio-cultural task

Across

1. deemed to have occurred during the mid-eighteenth to the mid-nineteenth centuries. this period marked a change in Britain from feudal, rural society into an industrialised, machine-based, capitalist society, controlled by a powerful urban middle class
3. Dr William Penny Brookes founded the....
4. local council provision of facilities for the masses to participate
5. The final class to emerge inside of the three tier society
7. in the nineteenth century, these were sports pastimes for the lower classes which were designed by the middle classes to be well ordered, organised and controlled

8. factory teams were set up by factory owners as a way of decreasing absenteeism and encouraging loyalty in the workforce

9. the gradual organisation and defining of the rules

10. large numbers of people moving from rural areas into towns and cities, seeking regular work in the factories

Down

2. The sport and pastimes of people in pre-industrial Britain

6. a member of the gentry who looked after a lower-class performer